Craig Davis earns Cancer Society Courage Award

By ALISON ALOISIO
Craig Davis of Bethel, who is fighting a six-year-long battle against leukemia, last month received the American Cancer Society's Courage Award for the New England Division. Davis, who recently moved back to his hometown from Auburn, said he was gratified to receive the award. But he's now looking to the future, focusing on redirecting the energy he has been putting into fundraising for ACS' Androscoggin Relay for Life. He wants to organize fundraising efforts for this part of Oxford County.

Rejection troubles
Davis was diagnosed with leukemia in 1999. In 2000, he had a bone marrow transplant. Since then, he has struggled with the after-effects, as his body tries to reject the transplant tissue. His lungs have permanent damage. Just three weeks ago, the problem put him in the hospital, on life support. He recovered, and shortly afterward was able to attend the ACS Annual Celebration Dinner in South Portland. It was there he received the award, "presented to a cancer patient who serves as a role model due to his/her strength and courage in combating cancer." Davis credits research funded by the Cancer Society for saving his life during his most recent bout with rejection.

Plan would put animal resuscitators on local fire trucks

By ALISON ALOISIO
A Bethel EMT wants to equip area fire trucks with emergency resuscitation equipment for dogs and cats. Jeanne Boelsma is a member of Bethel Rescue and also works as a veterinary technician at the Bethel Animal Hospital. "It's common at the scene of a house fire to find a dog or a cat overcome by smoke," she said.

'It's common at the scene of a house fire to find a dog or a cat overcome by smoke.'

JEANNE BOELSMA

That's because animals are often left alone at home during the day, while the family is at work or school. If firefighters or rescue personnel find an unconscious animal, their only choice now to try to revive it is "mouth-to-nose" resuscitation. "The equipment designed for humans doesn't work," said Boelsma.

So she is trying to raise funds to equip one truck each in the Bethel, Newry and Gilead fire departments with a bag-valve mask and an oxygen mask. The bag-valve mask is used to pump air into the lungs of animals not breathing on their own. The oxygen mask is used when the animal is breathing but is suffering from smoke inhalation. If the animal has stopped breathing, "often after a few breaths [from the bag valve] the animal will start breathing on its own," Boelsma said. The masks are cone-shaped to fit over the animal's snout. Several masks of different sizes come with the kit, to accommodate large and small animals.

Board opts not to realign Rt. 26/Rabbit Road intersection

By MICHAEL DANIELS
Reorienting the Rabbit Road bridge so that the road enters Route 26 at a perpendicular angle would be a fine thing to do, Bethel selectmen agree, but it's not something they think the town can afford at the moment. The bridge needs to be fixed, following a state inspection earlier this year that found three of the nine steel support beams that run lengthwise under it to be dangerously corroded. And Dick Littlefield, one of a handful of residents who must use the bridge to reach their homes, has urged town selectmen to use the opportunity to reorient the structure (located just a few feet from Route 26) in order to make the intersection safer.

Vote Monday on bridge funding

Currently, for drivers coming from Bethel the Rabbit Road forks off at a comfortable, 60-degree angle from Route 26, but drivers coming from the other direction are forced to make a turn of approximately 120 degrees to access the narrow side road. "If you're going to do any-

'12 Dogs' out on DVD

By ALISON ALOISIO
The DVD of "The 12 Dogs of Christmas," a movie filmed in the Bethel area in 2004, is now available at Wal-Mart stores. The film utilized many local residents as "extras" in the Depression-era story of a girl sent to live in a town that doesn't allow dogs. Scenes were filmed in Woodstock, Newry and Bethel, with the final scene taking place in Bethel's Odeon Hall. The movie received a good review in "Entertainment Magazine," and a short item appeared recently in "Parade" magazine. The executive producer of the film is Ken Krage, whose daughter, Emma, wrote the story when she was 7 years old. According to an article this week in the Los Angeles Times, Krage tried to sell the $1.75 million film to studios and networks, but they were not interested in a G-rated movie. So he went the DVD route, noting that children often enjoy watching the same movie multiple times. Krage is a former manager for Kenny Rogers, Olivia Newton-John, the Smothers Brothers, Burt Reynolds and the Bee Gees. For more information and links to media articles and reviews, see the film's Web site at www.12dogsofchristmas.com.

Longtime Locke Mills tire slammer finally smoothed out

By MICHAEL DANIELS
It was a fitting finale to a ride up the notoriously rough Greenwood Road — the slambang of your wheels over the railroad crossing in Locke Mills. And no matter how slowly you eased your way across, the noise, and the accumulated wear and tear on expensive car parts, was unavoidable. "I always liked to check to see how many hubcaps were lying around there," joked Chuck Dutterer, an automotive technician whose commute includes the Greenwood Road. Not so funny was the cost of the damage such roughness can inflict, on shocks and even on tires. "That kind of sharp, intense shock can damage the belts," Dutterer said, leading to high spots in the tire and uneven wear that can make a tire with otherwise good tread unspectable. "It's really frustrating," Dutterer said. For years Greenwood drivers have made their own noise about the crossing. "We had people say they were going to bill the railroad for their alignments," said Deputy Clerk Angela Lovejoy.

Well, good luck, but at least now the banging and complaints have quieted, if belatedly. Last week the crews from the town and the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad rebuilt the crossing, finally bringing it up to par with most other crossings in the area. "It's been wonderful," said Town Manager Kim Sparks. "People are very pleased." "They did a lovely job," Selectman Loretta Mikols said Tuesday. "You don't even know you're going over tracks — you just zippy-do on over." The project was paid for in part by $7,000 allocated by town voters in 2003. That money paid for the new paving and rubber strips embedded with

THE END OF A GREAT SEASON

To the Editor:

This past week ended a great season for our high school's field hockey team. They not only won the Western Division but they made it to the States again. To make it to the States two years in a row is quite a great honor, so many teams never make it that far.

We are all very proud of you girls; thank you for giving it your all. Good luck to all the seniors; we know that you will succeed at whatever you do.

'YES' ON QUESTION SIX

To the Editor:

On Nov. 8, we will have the opportunity to support higher education and lifelong learning by voting yes on Question Six, the Higher Education Bond. If passed, the $9 million bond proposal will offer a significant benefit to Maine citizens.

The greatest benefit will go to Maine's Community College system for essential repairs and improvements to campus facilities. Enrollment in these colleges in the past two years has jumped 44 percent to more than 10,800 degree students statewide. The availability of these schools means that more of our graduating high school students will have the opportunity to obtain a college degree, and that adults facing career changes can prepare to succeed in a changing economy.

Also included in the Higher Education Bond is money to build a new center for the University of Southern Maine's Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) in Portland. The institute provides educational opportunities for thousands of Mainers, ages 50 and older, through its support of the Maine Senior College Network, of which Western Mountains Senior College (WMSC) is a member. Without OLLI, WMSC would not exist.

Passage of the bond will attract an additional $4 million in private funds, broadening the reach of the Senior College Network, a valuable resource for a growing segment of Maine's population.

Chair, Board of Directors, Western Mountains Senior College

WHERE IS THE CEMETERY?

To the Editor:

I am writing to tell everyone about the cemeteries that are here in Woodstock. One is on the power line; those stones are the ones that I have sent to the paper before-and-after pictures. You can thank Wayne Ricker for doing the cleaning inside and outside of the cemetery. The town is the one to fix the stones, and there are two soldiers' graves in that cemetery.

The other cemetery, that I don't think too many people know where it is, is the second Whitman Cemetery. This cemetery is so bad that when they start to clean it up they may end up breaking the stones.

You may be saying to yourself, where is the second Whitman Cemetery. Don't go and look in Ruby Emery's cemetery book because it isn't in it. Then don't you think that it is about time the town officials find out where it is?

'SCOUTING FOR FOOD'

To the Editor:

The Boy Scouts of Troop 565 are participating in "Scouting for Food," which means if you are lucky enough to have a Boy Scout as a neighbor, you had a bag hung on your doorknob. Our goal, with the help of family and neighbors, is to collect food (non-perishable) for the local Exchange. Lately our charity has been focused to other parts of our county or the world. It is now time to help with the needs of the local area. Our goal is to load the shelves with food to help the Exchange meet its mission to help those in need.

We will be picking up the bags with your donations on Saturday, Nov. 5, so please have them ready by 8 a.m. If you were not approached for "Scouting for Food," you can make a donation directly to the Bethel District Exchange during their normal operating hours.

We thank you in advance for your help in our service to others.

REMEMBERING HOWARD COLE

To the Editor:

The death last week of Howard Cole brings to a close a remarkable life. Howard loved life and people. He always seemed to be very positive in outlook with a ready smile for everyone. He was involved in many projects including the development of Stephens Memorial Hospital and the Sunday River ski area.

Long a member of the Bethel Historical Society, he faithfully served as the chair of our endowment campaign, which through the years raised thousands of dollars to secure the future of the organization. Eventually, it evolved into an annual fund effort and Howard did a remarkable job of keeping the society solvent. He retired from this effort some time ago, but always kept up with the organization and was very interested in its programs and exhibits, especially when they involved railroads.

Howard made his last visit to the society just a few days before he died. He brought a copy of a handwritten "neighborhood newspaper" that someone had given him and he thought it belonged with us at the society.

He wasn't sure just what this document was, but I took one look and saw that it was written in East Bethel by residents of that section of town about 1900. Several years ago, we had a leading scholar as the Hall Memorial Lecturer discussing "neighborhood newspapers," who stressed how significant these documents could be in providing insights into an agrarian society during an era before

Thank you, Howard, for thinking of us to the end of your days on earth. Your efforts on the society's behalf will be long remembered for years to come.

Executive Director, Bethel Historical Society

THANKS FOR THE BIG HOSPITALITY

To the Editor:

On behalf of participating NOMA Fire Departments, I would like to publicly thank BIG Adventure for their hospitality in donating the use of their huge laser tag arena.

Our fire departments utilized the three levels of their arena for practice drills. It is difficult to find real life places to practice and refresh our skills and tactics and train on new equipment.

Scenarios that were played out included a lost or hiding child, downed firefighter, as well as interior attack.

Multi-department incident command and communications was also practiced, which sometimes can be tricky in an emergency of this simulated capacity. Gilead, Bethel, Newry, Andover, and Greenwood fire departments and Bethel Rescue participated.

BIG Adventure allowed us to drag in uncharged hoses and plant numerous footprints of dirt throughout their facility.

Our training also interrupted their software and equipment upgrade by the dark light laser tag representative from England. I encourage everyone to go check out their recently upgraded software system.

Thank you to BIG Adventure for inviting us and vacuuming up after us. Thank you to Bill and Mary Dunton for opening their doors to our group, we will be back to show our appreciation when we patronize your facility. We are thankful for your willingness to support your emergency response teams.

Thank you to my daughter, Shaynah Seames, for sitting patiently in the forest part of the arena in fog so thick she could not see her nose, acting out the role of a frightened, hidden child.

And last, but not least, a special thank you to my wife, Dawn. Your tireless efforts to make my suggestion a reality were the backbone to the success of this event. Thank you on behalf of all of us for your many hours of planning, writing invitation letters, inviting the press, providing us with ice water, phone calls, and for filling the arena with full blast fog and sticking around to show us the way around in there!

It was perfect.

The new management team at BIG Adventure is ready to go for the winter season. Check out their Website for all the details on their facility and friendly staff. Annie Komaneky, general manager, and Dawn Grondin, operations manager, are a great team, as they demonstrated at this event. Again, thank you.

Bethel Furniture Stock to close

BETHEL — Leon Favreau, President of Bethel Furniture Stock, Inc., has announced Wednesday that his company will close its operation on Route 2, West Bethel Road, this fall. The company is negotiating with another firm in hopes of relocating the Maine Chair Kit Co., its division that manufactures furniture kits and related products. Favreau also hopes to continue the five-axis CNC machine work the company does for many high-end customers under another banner. The regular bending and edge glued panel business, however, will cease to exist at the Bethel location. Decline in its customer base due to competition from overseas firms, which pay their employees as little as 50 cents an hour, and increased fuel costs were cited among the factors which affected Favreau's decision. Favreau said the company, founded by Roger Favreau in 1958, has had the pleasure of operating in a wonderful community for almost 50 years and appreciates the generous support of local citizens and businesses. "We are grateful to all the people who have worked for us over the last 47 years," Favreau said. "Special thanks go to our current employees, who have stuck with us through challenging times."

A new plan to trim the tree

WOODSTOCK — Selectmen are rethinking the town's method for placing Christmas lights on the fir tree on the Common. Currently, the town crew puts them up, using a rented bucket truck. But the two-day job costs Woodstock nearly $1,000 a year, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield. He said other towns hire a professional tree service company to do the job, and recommended Woodstock consider it. Selectmen agreed and asked Maxfield to research the option. They are also considering putting a separate line item in the town budget to reflect the cost. If taxpayers feel it is too much, said Maxfield, the town could consider putting up a smaller Christmas tree each year.

Forum on Plum Creek plan

NORWAY — The friends of Norway Memorial Library will sponsor a forum discussion "Plum Creek's Development Plan for the Moosehead Lake Region" on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. at Western Maine University Center in South Paris. Moderated by Richard A. Bennett, panelists will include Catherine Carroll, director of Maine Land Use Regulation Commission, Mark Scarano, co-chair of the Coalition to Preserve and Grow Northern Maine, and Diano Circo, North Woods Policy Advocate, Natural Resources Council of Maine. Since April, when Plum Creek Land Company and Plum Creek Maine Timberlands, LLC, submitted to the Maine Land Use Regulation Commission a petition, called a "concept plan," to rezone 426,000 acres of its land in the Moosehead Lake region, much has been written and said about the proposal's impact on the future of Maine's North Woods and the people who live, work and recreate there. This forum will focus on providing information about the proposal, the process that is in place to review and assess the plan and the issues that concern those who favor and oppose it. The evening's focus will also include time for those who attend to ask questions. For more information, contact the Norway Memorial Library at 743-5309.

The truck was later located by a Norway officer. Timothy L. Hilligoss was summonsed for operating with a suspended registration, failure to give notice of an accident by the quickest means, failure to notify an operator/owner of an unattended vehicle of a collision, and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

At 6:55 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese took a report that push rods for a plow truck had been taken from a West Bethel location.

Saturday, Oct. 29

Friday, Oct. 28

At 11:35 p.m. Officer Buddy Richard responded to a report of a vehicle driving to endanger on Route 2. He stopped the vehicle, and the driver, Joshua S. Bradbury, 24, was arrested and charged with OUI, operating after suspension, operating with a passenger possessing an open container on a public way, and possessing a suspended license.

At 5:50 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore received a report of a vehicle operating erratically. He stopped it on Mayville Road. The driver, H. Richard Powell, 64, was arrested for OUI.

Thursday, Oct. 27

At 8:55 a.m. Chief Alan Carr took a report from a complainant whose credit card was being used by someone else in another state. The proper authorities were notified and the card canceled.

Wednesday, Oct. 26

At 6:30 p.m. on the Mayville Road Sgt. S.R. White summonsed Jason N. Mowery, 21, of Bethel for operating with a suspended registration.

At 9:05 p.m. on the East Bethel Road Sgt. S.R. White assisted a probation officer with the arrest and transport of a subject who was in violation of probation.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Courage

COURAGE AWARD RECIPIENT—Craig Davis with the Courage Award he received from the American Cancer Society. While appreciative, Davis said he thinks of his friends who have fought cancer in recent years and lost. "[The award] really belongs to the ones who knew they were fighting a losing battle and kept on fighting to the end. Now that is courage." (Photo: A. Aloisio)

"If they didn't have this new drug that just came on the market, I wouldn't be talking to you," he said last week.

He has been a regular volunteer with ACS in Lewiston/Auburn, providing technical support for the annual Relay for Life fundraiser.

But now Davis wants to help out on two new fronts. He's applying to be an "ambassador" in a society program to advocate for funding research, at the national, state and local levels. Three people from Maine will be selected.

Regardless of whether he's among those chosen, Davis plans to do some work in this area.

"I'd like to help put on dances, yard sales, bake sales," he said, and maybe, eventually, something on a larger scale.

"I'd like to get people in Bethel involved," he said. "I plan to spend the rest of my life raising as much money as I can for cancer research. It makes you feel good to give back."

In addition, he said, he wants to serve as an Oxford County contact whom cancer patients can call for advice and support.

"People who haven't been there just don't understand the emotional and physical drain," he said.

Davis said that before he became ill, he was a workaholic, putting 80 or 90 hours a week into his job as a technical consultant.

"[Leukemia] changed how I felt about people and priorities," he said. "I look at the positive part. I'm grateful to be alive."

Anyone wishing to make an outright donation to cancer research may send contributions c/o Marie Roberge, Regional Executive for Development, American Cancer Society, One Main Street, Suite 300 Topsham, ME 04086.

Crossing

the replacement tracks.

In recent years the town has also put tens of thousands of dollars into rebuilding the Greenwood Road itself.

Only two short stretches of the road, near Twitchell Pond and the town beach on South Pond, remain to be completed.

With those exceptions, the ride from Greenwood City to Locke Mills is now smooth sailing for most of the way.

Thank you, SL&A

While the crossing work may be a "lovely" job, it is a year later than the SL&A promised.

Nonetheless, on Tuesday Selectman Wayne Hakala proposed sending the company a "thank you" note.

"For what?" Mikols replied. "For being a year late on the project?"

But Hakala stood fast. "We're greasing the skids for the next project down the road," he said, noting that the town must still deal with the company over the boat landing in Locke Mills.

The landing is on land owned by the SL&R, and the selectmen hope to eventually convince the railroad to turn the land over to the town.

It was agreed to send the "thank you" note.

Bridge

thing, straighten the bridge out," Littlefield urged the selectmen last week.

Selectman Don Bennett agreed, arguing that reorienting the bridge was in the town's long-term best interest, especially given the likelihood of further residential development in the area accessed by the bridge.

"Ultimately it's going to be more money. I don't see how you're going to get around that," Bennett said, "but thinking ahead, it seems to me that to realign that bridge is a very important thing to do."

Stan Howe agreed. "It should come in at a right angle," he said.

But a three-member majority of the board members thought the price of realigning the bridge would be too high.

"We'd all probably love to turn it at a right angle, but you've also got to be fiscally responsible," said Dennis Doyon.

Reggie Brown said: "I don't think the amount of traffic would warrant it. ... It's scary every time I go to Rite Aid, but there are some things in life you have to put up with."

Jack Cross concurred. "If there were more houses [across the bridge] I'd agree," he said, but as things stand the cost would be too high.

Local bid approved
Last week's meeting was called to review bids for repairing or replacing the bridge.

Five companies had responded to a hastily drafted RFP for the bridge work, and they submitted a total of nine bids, ranging from $22,325 (materials only) to $67,224.

After considerable discussion, the selectmen agreed to recommend town voters accept the bid of $25,609 from Sysko & Young of Bethel.

The Sysko & Young bid was the sole local bid, and the only one of the nine that included all the materials and labor associated with the project.

Rick Young told the board the bid includes removing the top of the bridge (steel cross beams and two inches of asphalt), sandblasting, priming and painting the beams, and then reinstalling them in eight inches of concrete and rebar.

As proposed by Sysko & Young, the work would also widen the narrow bridge by two feet and raise it six inches.

"Increasing the width of the bridge by two feet can't help but improve the situation a little bit," Doyon said.

And while everyone might like to see the intersection reconfigured, he said, "the economic reality is what the town can afford, it is going to improve the situation, and it is going to last a long time."

Town Meeting Monday

Bethel voters will be asked Monday to sign off on the work.

At a special Town Meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Town Office meeting room, they will be asked to approve spending up to $40,000 for the project.

The money beyond the Sysko & Young bid price would be to cover contingency and possibly widening the entryway onto Route 26 (an option that is currently being studied).

Despite their reservations about rebuilding the bridge in its current configuration, Bennett and Howe joined their fellow board members in voting unanimously to recommend that voters approve the project.

If they do, the work could be completed before Christmas, according to Town Manager Scott Cole.

The bridge would probably be closed for two weeks during construction, Cole said.

During that time access to the far side of the river would be by a road across land owned by Chadbourne Tree Farms and Hancock Lumber, Cole said.

Since mid-October the bridge has been posted to loads over three tons, and that road has provided the only access for vehicles such as fuel and, if need be, fire trucks.

Animals

Boelsma said the equipment is easy to use and requires minimal training, which she will provide.

She has spoken with the chiefs of the departments, and they said they would use the equipment, she said.

A complete kit costs about $300, and can be purchased through the Bethel Animal Hospital at wholesale price, Boelsma said.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may send checks, payable to "Revive-A-Pet," to Northeast Bank, P.O. Box 850, Bethel ME 04217.

If more than enough donations are received, additional kits will be purchased for other area fire departments, Boelsma said.

Mike Jodrey, Bethel's assistant fire chief, said there have been cases in the past in which the kits would have been helpful.

He said firefighters tried in one instance to use a mask made for a person on a pet, "without much luck."

Said Boelsma, "The nearest 24-hour emergency veterinary hospital is in Lewiston, which is about 45 miles from here. Oxygen therapy can make the difference between life and death and keep an animal alive until it can reach veterinary care."

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Lisa Farrar Fox is a volunteer for the Red Cross in Louisiana.

She has been in Lake Charles, La., for two weeks and expects to be there three more weeks.

Eleanor and Arlan Jodrey have returned from a trip to Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. They had a most enjoyable trip sightseeing and visiting.

Dan Koris is attending Rochester Institute of Technology in Rochester, N.Y.

Chuck and Mary Millard of Bristol, R.I., were here for the long weekend.

Recently, Ken and Gwyneth Bohr went on an Elderhostel in Canada. Two cities visited were Ottawa and Montreal. They repeated those visits of their wedding trip 59 years ago. They also went to Quebec City.

Sharon York Kaiser of Farmington, N.H., spent the weekend with her mother, Dot York. They attended the Senior College meeting and found it to be very enjoyable.

Glady's Grenier is at Ledgewood Nursing Home in West Paris.

Lynn and Tim Hutchins attended the wedding of her nephew in Cape Cod, Mass., over the weekend.

Ed Dorion, brother of Mary Paine, underwent knee surgery at Maine Medical Center in Portland recently and will be in rehab for a time.

Halloween was spectacular. I viewed the CPS parade from my home on Chapman Street. It was amazing to view all the different costumes. At the grocery store the clerks were dressed in costumes you wouldn't believe. Then at the banks, again it was hard to recognize those beautiful costumed people.

Frank and Carol DeDuka and two sons are new neighbors on Tyler Street living in the former Vernon Brown house. He has the N.Y. Pizza place at Sunday River for the skiers.

Many former Bethel residents and many past associates of Howard Cole were at his funeral on Friday. After the rain, even though it didn't stay on the ground, it made the mountains beautiful. Mt. Spec and Saddleback were lovely.

Oxford Hills Bridge Club met Friday at the Fare Share Commons where a four-table Howell movement was enjoyed. Finishing first in flight A were Pete Cummings and Dick Allen; Marianne Avery and Woody Mercier were second; and Marta Clements and Bill Bowman third. Finishing first in flight B were Eleanor Griffin and Jim Dickens with Wally Fricke and Barbara Vandeerzanden second.

Mayville News

by Donald Bennett

Driving over the "old" bridge into Mayville you cannot miss seeing the water slide at BIG Adventure Center. Remember when it used to be a chicken house for raising broilers? Last week I caught up with the invisible man, Bill Dunton, to get a run-down on the state of his various enterprises in Bethel.

Bill told me that he has a new general manager and a new operations manager at the Adventure Center. Annie Komanecky is general manager and Dawn Grondin is operations manager. Both of these women have a common denominator in their past: they had a Boston ZIP code in their return address.

Annie Komanecky moved to West Bethel from Boston three and one-half years ago; she came here after 15 years in the "Hub," most of the time at Fidelity Investments and the last two years at Fleet Bank in marketing and sales positions. Her motivation to move here grew from eight years as a ski patrol volunteer at Sunday River. She asked herself, "Why put up with the five days a week in Boston?" After job hunting for six months she found BIG (or BIG found her). As general manager she runs the "back office" and is the on-the-ground Bill Dunton keeping administrative obstacles out of the operation's way but more importantly she is also BIG's face in the community at large, chamber of commerce and beyond. BIG is an active chamber member due to the efforts of both women, from welcome sign scarecrows to the Mountain Explorer. Her scheme to acquire a cloak of "localness" is playing Bingo at Locke Mills; both women laughed when that was mentioned and said they have not gotten Bill there to play yet.

Dawn Grondin is a Bethel native who lives a few miles up the North Road from BIG. (You senior readers, Bob Stearns was her grandfather.) Dawn's Boston experience came from attending Northeastern University. She had done part-time summer stints at BIG (she says that way her daughter could use the facilities). Then she added some worthy experience to her resume working with special needs students in the Oxford Hills school system. In April she returned to BIG full time and moved her way up the ladder to operations manager as staff changes occurred. She has a two-part mission: make things work reliably and community relations. She is big on preventive maintenance, keeps an updated list of items to be checked, and is BIG's working link with the English company that produced their laser tag software and hardware. Dawn is the one who handles the details of BIG's support of emergency training for firefighters (reported in The Citizen Oct. 20) and school bus evacuation. She found out the need for this while attending a Northern Oxford County Mutual Aid (NOMA) session with her husband, who is a Gilead fireman.

At BIG, of all the attractions, laser tag pulls in the most cash. Bill told me that laser tag has been substantially upgraded recently with new software from the English firm that has earned the reputation of producing the world's most sophisticated laser tag software. BIG's upgrade makes their whole system more reliable thus more fun for the players. When Dawn took over as operations manager BIG had laser equipment maintenance problems. Only 12 laser tag vests worked and 18 did not. Through her continuous efforts as of last Wednesday, 27 vests were operational. Annie says that everyone wants to play laser tag, from grandparents to youngsters. She said that on hot summer days some kids forego the water slide to play laser tag.

Back to Bill behind the scenes: Trolling for customers is one of Dunton's top concerns. Walk-in customers alone would never pay the bills. As a "fun center" BIG's customer base covers a very large area. Increasingly, therefore, active marketing has focused on large special groups such as summer camps, churches and large companies. If you have noticed a tent full of people at BIG, they are a group enjoying the whole day in Mayville and BIG. The bus they came on may have had Scarborough or Saco lettering on it.

Not long ago Bill went to Stowe, Vt., to see the hiking paths there that are reputed to be the best community trail system in the country. He sees a very clear possibility of the same type of trails emerging here. BIG has already donated their riverfront property to future trails. From Bill's point of view, the bridge and trails will truly help the Bethel area like it has Stowe. (Stowe was also a model for and part of the inspiration for Sunday River Skiway advocates 50 years ago, according to Mike Thurston.)

As a post script for the BIG Adventure Center news item and for the previous week's Bethel Outdoor Adventure news item, in my opinion, these two businesses are in key locations to take the "pulse" of the million dollar bridge's use over the next few years. Two or three years from now it should be a learning experience to see how they have reacted to and benefited from the bridge's influence. Three years from now will we see a dollar and cents increase in business value attributable to the bridge at these two business locations?

Leaving BIG after a day visit, Bill heads for Riverbend where he is general contractor for the on-going construction of two new condo buildings, numbers six and seven. In the last year, the outstanding unsold units were sold and eleven new buyers came forward in the pre-construction sale period. Based on the number of new sales, for the first time in its history, Dunton decided to construct two new buildings at once. He said that most of the new owners have a ski background, a couple are retirees and, for the first time, golfers are looking at ownership and summer rental for golfers who plan to play at Sunday River. Riverbend owners have coalesced into a congenial, tightly knit community group, making it very comfortable for Bill to deal with them. Largest percent of owners are from Massachusetts but a significant number now are Mainers.

The condo buildings at Riverbend, based on Bill's best research, are the only timber frame (post and beam) condo buildings in the country. Each building has eight units: four are one-bedroom units and the other four have two bedrooms. Bill has been the architect/designer for all buildings. Besides the timber frames, walls are closed in with stress-skin panels that are three-layer sandwiches consisting of the exterior weather shell, then three and one half inches of solid insulation (R30 rating) and then the interior wall. John Harvey from East Bethel is head of timber framing; this is his first time at Riverbend. Harry Hudson from Harrison has done all of the foundation work starting with the first building in 1988. Doug Zinchuk from Albany-Bethel is doing the roof work. Dave Brown of Bethel is the carpenter fitting panels, interior framing and finish work. Overall Bill says they work together as a four-star team. According to Bill, completion date for one building is by Christmas (but a comment overheard on site was "next year").

If you drive by Riverbend, you cannot help but notice the logging going on across Sunday River Road from the condos. Earlier this year Bill told me that he had made a successful pitch to Gould Academy to buy the 84 acres that had been the academy's ski jump and alpine ski slope. At the present time, selective cutting is in progress. The loggers are Mark Beaudoin of Hanover and Adrian Morin from Waterford; both men have worked together before. A huge farmhouse once stood across the road from the Riverbend property; it was known as the Godwin place. From the 1880s into the 1900s, this part of North Bethel was a key summer vacation spot. (For my family this area is hallowed ground dating back to the time when the Crosby family spent their summers at the Locke Mountain House from 1898 to 1912. Up to 60 vacation boarders stayed at the Locke and Godwin houses during July and August. Ruth Crosby, my aunt, wrote "I Was a Summer Boarder" based on her summers here as a child.) All in all, it looks like there may be further steps toward returning this part of North Bethel to a vacation area similar to what existed there a century ago.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

Boy, I can't believe how fast the seasons go by, but it now looks like the time has come for me to dig those winter woools out of the mothballs and the heavy coats out of the back of the closet. Cold weather is setting in and I bet it's going to be another long Maine winter. It kind of creeps up on you, doesn't it?

It happens every year; sometimes a little earlier, sometimes a little later, but no matter what, it always happens. I don't ever remember a year without a winter. So how come I'm always surprised by it?

Why am I always in a state of shock the first time I go out in the morning to start my car and find it coated with a heavy frost? Why is it the window scrapers I accumulated last winter, buying one every time I saw them on sale, are nowhere to be found? I must have ten different window scrapers and I end up using Popsicle sticks, credit cards and broken plastic spoons to scrape the frost off my windshield.

I know without a doubt in my mind that the first time it snows I will be just as shocked as I am over the first frost. I also know that the boots I wore all last winter will have ended up in the land of missing items. And I know I will go through every drawer of every bureau and there will not be one matched pair of gloves or mittens anywhere in this house.

I have come to the conclusion that I'm not the one who is responsible for the loss of items of winters past. It's this house. When spring arrives, always much later than I want it to, all of my winter necessities are sacrificed to the God of This Old House. It's the only rational explanation.

Take my long Johns for example. Actually they have already been taken by This Old House. From October until Easter, some years as late as Memorial Day, I live in my long Johns. During the cold months they become my second skin. I wear them under sweat pants, I wear them under flannel nightgowns, I wear them under blue jeans. I even wear them under long skirts. Now they're gone, not a single pair of my precious long Johns are to be found in This Old House. I certainly didn't throw them away, I didn't even pack them away, I put them in a bureau drawer, I know I did. But are they there now? NO!

I don't see the point of driving myself crazy looking for gloves and mittens.

Boots! I'll admit I'm careless with my boots. I kick them off and they end up under the sofa or a chair, sometimes they even end up under my bed, but they always end up somewhere. I clearly remember, after tripping over the darn things most of the summer that I put them in the closet where I put everything else that gets in the way. And now they're gone. They couldn't have just disappeared, but I can't find them.

I don't see the point of driving myself crazy looking for gloves and mittens. I know they're gone or at least one hand of each pair will be missing. The God of This Old House must be one-handed because he/she always leaves me with one glove or mitten and it's always the same hand so I can't even get by with a mismatched pair.

Last winter I developed a very close relationship with the snow shovel. It seems like I used it every other day during February and March. I know I was very pleased when I could put it away for the year and I know I was very careful to put it somewhere so I wouldn't have to look at it again until I needed it. And even though I know right where I put it I also know that when I go to get it the first time I have to shovel it won't be there.

If the God of This Old House is one-handed as is evident from the missing gloves, one would think he/she would have no use for a snow shovel, but I know it will be missing none the less.

I have no doubt that when I go looking for my big turkey platter that I use every year for Thanksgiving it won't be where I put it. I always put it between my washer and dryer because it's too big to put anywhere else, but I'm willing to bet it will be among the missing when I need it a few weeks from now. I can be pretty sure that the Christmas tree stand will have gone AWOL along with the turkey platter too.

I think the God of This Old House likes to mess with my head. The clothing, both summer and winter that he/she doesn't take, I'm pretty sure that he/she takes the seams in because they never fit as well as they did the last time I wore them.

So each year I seem to spend a bundle on replacing the items that This Old House has gobbled up. If I were you I think I would be investing in the company that makes snow scrapers because as sure as the snow will be falling before we know it, I will be buying many more snow scrapers.

The way I see it This Old House may be afraid of thunder, This Old House may be afraid of rain, This Old House keeps taking my belongings and This Old House is a royal pain. I know, that's pretty weak, but my book on Modern Poetry Construction seems to be missing too.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

Last week we officially opened winter with a snow fall of 12 inches in depth. On the East "B" Hill Road there was easily 18 inches. Driving was hazardous and most people stayed close to home.

Preceding the snow it rained for seven days. Walter Stanczyk reported nine and a half inches in his rain gauge. It was rather comforting to see the snow covering all the debris you should have picked up before the snow and rain, but the snow has melted and we are now back to square one.

The snowstorm did not cheer the people up. A power outage for nine and a half hours and horrible driving conditions were less than appreciated. With 12 inches of the white stuff falling, the apple trees took an awful beating. Heavy snow, the leaves and the apples still on the trees, destroyed them. Mother Nature punished us for having a bumper apple crop.

A large tree fell at the Harris' homestead and Al Gagnon's. Joy Yarnell lost several oaks. Buster Williamson's apple tree also fell.

We have a new store in town. At the site of Jerry Geilings Trading Post on the corner of Mill Road and Route 26, Collie and Wayne Svendberg have opened the Upton Village Store. They have put a lot of energy into preparing a well-stocked store. Renovations have made it a very pleasing place. There will be a variety of goods and services offered. Coming soon will be pizza, subs, soup and breakfast sandwiches. Green Mountain coffee is also available.

Collie is a beautician and will open a salon in the future. We wish them happiness, good luck and success in a well-needed store. Welcome to Upton!

Sunday afternoon, some enterprising residents strung their Christmas lights on tall trees and shrubs. This reflects good planning. Who wants to do that job in very cold and snowy weather during the busy Christmas season.

The little spooks arrived for Halloween. Their costumes were unique to say the least. The kids were well pleased with themselves and were on their best behavior.

Visitors to town this week were bird hunters and deer hunters.

Gene and Sandy Wixom have a new, very cute, beagle who is being trained to chase bunnies.

Barbara and C. J. Stratton are enjoying a quiet time on the lake at Birch Point.

Diane Williamson received a visit from Nan Moses, her childhood friend. Many caring people visited with Ginny Williamson on Sunday. Nelson Hood and two nieces also visited.

Bob Yarnell came for the weekend to visit with Joy and also to do some bird hunting.

Larry and Sue Nelson are new grandparents to a little boy, Miles Alfred Murray. Miles' mom and dad are Tara and Don Murray of Thomaston.

Carolyn and Carl Taylor have also welcomed another grandchild. His name is Emmett. When Mom Beth attended Gould Academy, she babysat for a little boy named Emmett. I didn't have the heart to tell her that our Chesapeake Bay retriever's name was also Emmett.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Sally Lavalley who is a patient at the Berlin Hospital.

As for the "Bird of the Week," you will have to pick your own. I was going to pick the partridge until Maggie, the golden retriever, dragged one out of the woods, rolled in it, and she has not smelled very good since. (Dog perfume!).

The weather has finally improved over the past few days. The cooler weather is certainly a lot better than the rain we were having. Of course, we now have to get used to the time change. When I am traveling home from work, it will be dark now.

I have been very busy at work lately. SAD44 Adult Education is getting ready to go to press with our brochure for winter. We hope to have it in the mail by the end of December. In the meantime, we have been busy with attending the Maine Adult Education Association conference in Portland. Besides Jean Waite, director for SAD44 Adult Education, those who went to the conference were Lois Ruff and Mary Dunn, who are instructors. Also attending were Lisa Pivin, Kristin Gibson, Eileen Meisner, and myself, who are members of the office staff, Learning Center staff and just about whatever comes along. It is hard to pin anyone down to a job because we all work closely together and help each other out.

This past weekend, SAD44 and the Western Mountains Senior College sponsored the "Aging Well" Conference held at Crescent Park School. There were several participants from the Bethel area who attended, but there were several who came from the surrounding towns. The Adult Education staff worked with the Senior College committee to put together a fantastic day full of interesting workshops with a variety of topics.

Next regular meeting will be Nov. 3 (tonight) at the Town Hall at 7 p.m.

Gilead Historical Society
On Saturday, Oct. 29, the GHS met at the Town Hall for the last event of the year. While we were waiting to make sure everyone who planned to attend had a chance to get there, we looked at some pictures that Bob and Judy brought with them to share. There was a very nice one of the inside of the Gilead Railroad Station with her father, George Daniels, who was the station agent.

There were nine people who attended the Cemetery Tour. Besides Hugh and me, there were Bob and Judy (Daniels) Bishop, Heide Munro, Cynthia Handlen, Beverley Corriveau, Tammy MacDormand and Steve McLain. Steve brought his faithful companion, Laney. Laney is a little black dog and she looked quite stylish in her orange vest. We made sure we were wearing orange because it was the first day of resident hunting season. Most of the cemeteries are in prime spots for hunters. We saw a few deer tracks at one of our stops but did not see any deer.

We started with the Peabody Cemetery on Route 2 and then to Lary South Cemetery also on Route 2 above Wild River. Our next stop was Lary North Cemetery on the North Road heading toward New Hampshire and then we traveled toward Bethel and stopped at the Chapman Cemetery right near Tammy's house. We stopped at the Three Stone Cemetery on the North Road. This is a little-known spot where three early settlers were buried and is not an official cemetery at this point. It was quite interesting to look at the old stones and note the dates. The earliest one we found in the Lary South was a woman who died in 1800. There is a very interesting stone in the Chapman Cemetery that is made out of EXHIBIT DEDICATED TO MICHELLE—The Explorations Art Program, now celebrating its 15th season, is holding its student exhibit in a gallery for the first time. In years past, the Summit Hotel at Sunday River has generously donated a conference room for one day. But starting Nov. 3 and running through Nov. 26, the work of over fifty students in the program will be displayed at the Fare Share Commons, at 443 Main Street in Norway. A wide range of media will be displayed, with students ranging in age from 6 to 70. In special recognition of one former Explorations student, Michelle Waterhouse, the exhibit this year will be dedicated to her life and her creative spirit. One wall will be devoted to the artwork that Michelle did from first grade through to her eighteenth year, while working with the program's teacher Arla Patch. Michelle lost her life last February when her pickup truck skidded on black ice in Newry. An opening reception will be held on Friday, Nov. 4 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the gallery. The public is invited. Northeast Bank sponsors this exhibit. This photo is a detail from Untitled by Michelle Waterhouse.

Referendum Election
Please remember that Nov. 8 is the date for the Referendum Election. The polls will open at 10 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. There are seven questions to be considered.

LIMBERING UP—The Western Maine Senior College Saturday sponsored a conference on "Aging Well," aimed at improving participants' "chances for living a long, healthy and productive life," according to organizers. Workshop topics included Mind Games, Sexuality and Aging, Sensible Eating in the 21st Century, Taking the "Old" Out of Aging, the Four Dimensions of Healing, Exploring Different Paths to Spirituality in Aging, and Finding Balance, Gaining Strength. Before the daylong conference began, participants took part in stretching exercises. (Photo: A. Aloisio) voting will take place at the Town Office. Voting will start at 10 a.m. and continue until 8 p.m. When voting in Hanover be sure to bring a non-perishable food item, as there will be a collection box in place to assist the Wolf Pack of the Cub Scouts with their project. The scouts will also be there to learn about voting and flag etiquette.

The Hanover annual Town Meeting was Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the Town House. Moderator Norm Ferguson took 30 voters through the 45 articles on the warrant in just about one hour. Clem Worcester was elected to one-year terms as town clerk, tax collector and treasurer. Bruce Powell was elected to his fourth term as a selectperson, where he has served as chairman. Vickie Fimiani was elected to her first three-year term on the School Committee. She had previously finished out a two-year term after replacing the late Bob Dempsey.

Two newcomers were elected to fill vacancies. Frank Morrison was elected to a two-year term as selectperson replacing Scott Gould, who resigned because he moved from town. Frank has been a member of the Planning Board for several years. Dan Force was elected to the School Committee to fill the vacancy left when Deb Barlow resigned.

The Select Board met on Oct. 25 for their monthly meeting prior to the annual Town Meeting. Bob Iles from Andover, representing the Ma-hoosuc Land Trust, addressed the board about the importance of preserving Rumford Whitecap Mountain. The property, formerly owned by Mead Paper Mill, is in danger of becoming closed to the public due to development. The board was asked to write a letter of support for the Ma-hoosuc Land Trust to purchase and preserve the bald, dome mountain for use as a recreational and wildlife habitat resource. The board agreed and will submit a letter of support.

Also, Superintendent of Schools Jim Hodgkin attended the board meeting to explain the school budget that was voted on at the Town Meeting. The School Budget increased over last year because surplus funds available last year had been spent.

Gardner Roberts Memorial Library committee met recently and voted to change the by-laws to allow men to be members of the library. Their next act of business was to name Clem Worcester to the Board of Trustees. (Clem doesn't know if he should feel honored or what.) Work continues to make the group a non-profit. Members learned that nearly $12,000 had been raised toward the moving of the library building.

Each year the "Volunteer of the Year" is selected and recognized by the Select Board. This year's Volunteer of the Year is Norman K. Ferguson, Jr., who has served many years as the Town Meeting moderator. He also served for an extended period on the Hanover School Committee. He has always been willing to help others throughout the area when needed. He previously was a county commissioner and later state Senator. Norm said he was pleased by the recognition.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

Last week was a corker, weather-wise. The three inches of rain, sleet, and snow that came down on Oct. 25 made for a gloomy and uncomfortable day. It was not, however, unprecedented. Mike's snowfall records show three inches of snow on Oct. 23, 2003; and three inches on Nov. 21, 2004. And as I write this on Monday morning, the sun is shining, and there are predictions of temperatures in the 60s.

The tufted titmice have reappeared at our bird feeders. We also have jillions of juncos and jays, in addition to the usual gaggle of chickadees, nuthatches, and now pine siskins.

Saturday and Sunday were Open Farm Days for the Maine Alpaca Breeders Association. Accordingly, Maureen Libby and Jeff Erickson held open house at Sunday River Alpacas. I was there for part of each day, spinning alpaca fiber, which is smooth, soft, and silky. Maureen had baked some special cookies, using the farm's maple syrup, and cut the cookies in the shape of alpacas. They were so pretty that I hesitated to take a bite. My stomach won the battle, though, and they were as good as they looked. I saw several folks from the neighborhood from time to time — Pat McCartney, Lesley Rowse and Ani, Eric Paul, Sharon and Seabury Lyon — and others from town, Randy Bennett, Danna Nickerson, Barbara Russell, Lisa Freda. Saturday was glorious, sunny, and warm, while Sunday turned out to be a bit harsh with clouds, high winds, and cooler temperatures.

Pleasant Valley Grange met last Thursday evening. As usual it was an enjoyable time, with good company.

The Rev. Bell reports that the ladies of the West Bethel Union Church have been working on items for the Christmas Fair for months. The Christmas Fair will be held at the church in West Bethel this coming Saturday, Nov. 5, from 1 to 3 p.m. You are invited to begin your Christmas shopping for that little gift for a friend.

Last week I made mention of the marathon walk that Sharon Lyon did. Sharon asked that I list the names of some of her walking partners. Besides Sharon, others who took part in the walk on Oct. 16 at Mount Desert Island (in the cold, cold, pouring rain) were Brenda Wight, Barbara Russell, Heidi Steele, Sue Fontaine, Donna Whitney, Ellen Whitney, and Suzi Whitney. All of the women trained for several months before taking on this personal challenge. They have a great sense of accomplishment after having finished. And well they should; in case you don't remember, a marathon is 26.2 miles!

Jane Hosterman recently visited Colleen Boyd at Norway Rehab Center, where she has been a patient for several weeks since breaking her ankle. Jane reports that Colleen has a plate and a screw in her ankle, but the cast is gone. Colleen does exercises to help strengthen her injured foot and can now put all her weight on it. Although she doesn't know when she'll be returning home, her spirits are good, and she is optimistic about her progress.

I'm listening for shots in the woods, the signal that some lucky hunter may have spotted a deer.

Hello people. On Saturday, residents-only hunting day, there were 12 deer tagged. This week starts a month of deer hunting in the state.

Friends of Dolly Jones will be pleased to hear that she is now at Rumford Community Home. For several months she has been a patient at Ledgewood Nursing Home in West Paris.

Sandra Wainwright, Mil-bridge, has moved to East Andover to reside with her mother, Betty Moore, and her aunt, Beatrice Schneider.

Belated birthday wishes to East Andover Postmaster Betty Davis on Oct. 24, and to her mother, Norma Farrington, on Oct. 25.

Marge Towne will be entertaining the East Andover Community Club on Nov. 14 at 1 p.m. There will be a food auction. Due to illness, the October meeting was cancelled.

Pastor John O'Keefe, his wife, Lisa, and four children have been transferred from Calvary Bible Church at South Andover to Plantation, Fla. He had served the Andover church for four years and three months.

Edna White, our oldest resident, entered the community hospital on Oct. 27.

Addie Feener is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

In the late 1930s the late Bill Crooker purchased a Sears and Roebuck home. This fall, his son, Bill, and his wife and friends insulated the house and gave the house and garage a new paint job. While here they stayed in their trailer in the yard, as the house is rented.

There will be an Election Day-Hunters Supper at the C.E.B. on Tuesday, Nov. 8, starting at 5:30 p.m. Wear hunter orange and be eligible for the door prize drawing. The menu will be beans, hot dogs, coleslaw, rolls, and pies for dessert.

Absentee ballots are available for the upcoming election on Nov. 8. Polls at the Town Hall will be open from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. We will be voting on a state referendum, which can be viewed at the Town Office and local businesses, and also voting for a selectman for a 16-month term. Two candidates have taken out papers for selectman: Laura Hutchins and Hope Peterson.

The annual Craft Fair at the Andover Fire Station will be on Dec. 10, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The Halloween Concert at the Elementary school last Friday evening was very nice.

It was fun to watch the kids, and hear the different spooky songs. And what a big crowd!

The Halloween Walk on Saturday night was a huge success. I think all the local witches and scary monsters and such had a wonderful time. I know Doug and I certainly did; we tried not to laugh throughout the whole thing listening to the others. Have a nice weekend.

Last week was pretty quiet around here after the rain finally quit. I added up all the rain totals I had written on the calendar; we had 14.5 inches of water between about Oct. 6 and Oct. 27. Our friends up the road here surely didn't get much solar energy for their home batteries this month, and the months with the shortest days are ahead.

Sometimes I wonder if our four-legged security system is worth all the trouble he gets into. Snuffy got close to another skunk last Saturday evening. (Haven't found another dead skunk around anywhere, yet!). Then Sunday evening he came into the house with a nose and one leg full of porcupine quills. He was pretty good about letting us pull out the first few quills with a pair of pliers, but then he got a little grouchy. We had to fasten his "beak" shut with duct tape to get the rest of them. Mona held his head while I pulled quills. I hate that job!

Hunting season began with a flurry here. Rupert Jr. arrived at "the farm" with the news that a small buck with horns had just crossed the road in front of his truck and headed into the small patch of woods behind Lawrence Grover's house. Three of us "surrounded" the patch of woods as soon as we could, but the deer had left before we got there. Rupert Junior's grandson, Sam, is now 9 years old and excited about hunting. Sam can't wait for his 10th birthday, so he can hunt for real. For now, he is content to carry his wooden gun and shadow his grandfather.

I have a correction to my report about the birds in our bird feeders. Mona had told me she saw a cedar waxwing a couple weeks ago, but after studying the bird books, she thinks it was probably a female cardinal. Maybe that's why the male quit singing! Mona was excited about another new (for her) bird sighting; she saw a golden-crowned kinglet in trees near our field last week. We have also "acquired" a blackbird (grackle or starling) that keeps coming. I thought the blackbirds had gone south before this.

The first snow to be seen on Sunday River

Whitecap was on Oct. 20; it was gone by mid-morning. On Oct. 24 there was snow on the top again, but due to the mist could not tell if it was still there by the end of the day, but, on the 26th, it was halfway down, and though it looked like it might become the base for the winter's depth, on Sunday it was about gone.

Birds have been feeding at my feeders for over 20 years. Just lately I noticed that the nuthatches, my favorite birds, are storing their seeds in the shakes that cover my house. This is the first time I've seen them do this. Usually they put seeds in the bark of trees for Karlene Bachelder's sister, Wilma from Unity, went home this week after a visit that included attending Gil's birthday party. Also stopping in for a brief visit was Karlene's cousin, Ida Kretschmar from Paige, Texas. They will probably get together one more time before Ida heads for home on the 17th of November. She is staying with her brother in Livermore Falls.

Gilberte Seeley wishes to thank everyone who surprised her on her 98th birthday. A special thanks for the party, the delicious food and the many gifts. This weekend, Gil and Karlene went out to dine at the Cinnamon Stick Café in Locke Mills.

The WVSC did some trail work this past weekend. Leon, Rick, Bob and Gary were in the Grafton Notch area. They found about six to eight inches of snow and lots of blow downs in the area they were clearing. Ed and a friend were grooming in the Sunday River area.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 5, there will be a Hunters' Spaghetti Supper at Bear River Grange Hall. The time is 5 to 7 p.m. The price is $5 per person. It is an All-You-Can-Eat kind of supper.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

It is November already and even though we had snow/sleet and slush last week, today, Tuesday, it is to be in the 70s. That is OK with me. Several friends and I are off to enjoy the sun.

Last night was Halloween and we only had grandchildren for trick or treaters, but that was nice. I saw many on the streets of Harrison when I went to yoga. There were big kids with their younger brothers and sisters and parents with their young ones in tow. Now we have candy to spare.

Next week, Nov. 7-12, is Maine Recycles Week. Now is a good time to start recycling if you haven't already done so. In September Waterford saved over $3,000 by recycling. Much of it was cardboard, but we had a great deal of newspaper/magazine/junk mail and some tin, aluminum, and plastic, too. We are doing very well. Our camps and stores are doing their part. We thank them.

Due to the change in seasons, the free table is now on hiatus until spring. Please do not bring in your goodies. Instead either bring them to Stephens Hospital Thrift Shop, Salvation Army, District Exchange in Bethel or Rumford Free Store, to name a few. We appreciate everything folks bring in, but with snow approaching, we have to keep the area free for plowing. Greener earth will be on hiatus, too. Again, thanks for everything people brought in.

On Nov 12, there will be a Craft Fair at Lovell VFW, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. It is put on by the Ladies Auxiliary.

The long-awaited and postponed, due to work that had to be done, Community Supper can now be held on Nov. 17 at 6 p.m. at the Wilkins House. It is a potluck. Come and bring a friend.

At the Waterford Library, on Nov 23 they will be discussing "Pine Barrens" by John McPhee. It happens at 10:30 a.m.

At the Waterford Town Office, there is an Auxiliary Supper on Nov 5 from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Come one and all. They are for our benefit.

Nov. 8 is Election Day. Do not forget to vote. The referendums will affect us all.

That is all for now; have a great week and enjoy the sun while we have it.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. How did you like that little snowstorm this past week? It didn't stay with us very long, did it. But it tells us what is coming. At 8:30 p.m. our driveway was very slippery when I took the dog out, and the next morning the field was all white with snow, but a few hours later it was all gone. It was more than just frost. Anyway, it is time for it pretty soon, and it is time to get ready for winter weather. Some people don't, as they wait until the last minute.

Saturday, Oct. 22, Cheryl Barnard flew to Portland from Virginia to spend the weekend with us and to help celebrate her father's birthday. She and Albert Nelson Jr., Troy Nelson and Cathy Beaudoin, Dale and Kitty Nelson, and Albert and I all went to dinner (at night) to 99 Restaurant in Conway. It was a nice weekend. Thanks, kids.

On Oct. 20, members of the Waterford-Stoneham Lions' Club met at the Bear Mountain Inn for a potluck supper and meeting. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted as read. The next meeting is scheduled to be at Stoneham Rescue on Nov. 17, with drinks of your choice and appetizers or snacks.

On Oct. 23, Sunday, I worked the afternoon shift at Evergreen Inn. It was kind of quiet after the full-time of Fryeburg Fair and foliage people. They are awfully nice people that come there year after year. Renters are also welcome.

Don't forget, people, to get out and vote on Nov. 8. Your vote will count. Every little bit counts.

I saw a picture of the new little twins in town Sunday morning, and they are just adorable.

Brenda Files told me that she had a possum at her house last week and he went under the house. She has lots of birds and animals that she feeds.

The Telstar hockey team did very good to get to the finals. Congratulations to them. It was also good to see the golf team do a repeat on the Class C Championship.

Alder River Grange will have a meeting on Nov. 11. There will be a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper and the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The last supper is a turkey supper on Nov. 12, with all the fixings. The supper is at 5 p.m. and adults are $6 and under 13 is $3. Any veteran will get a free supper.

Arlene Harrington has ventured out a few times this weekend, and her appetite has come back.

Jason Crockett and Peter Haines have the water heater installed at the Grange Hall and pipe into the kitchen sink is all in now. Next summer we will have running water and hot water. It will be nice.

Getting the firewood in and the leaves raked is now the big job before the snow flies.

This past weekend was lovely with sunshine and mild temps.

I hope everyone has a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. I'm sitting here today writing the column with the baby on my lap, so, if any typos slip through, I apologize. Danny likes to type and I'm relying on the spell checker.

Monday night was Halloween. We watched old silent films (reel to reel) with the kids, and so didn't tend to the door. But, about three groups showed up for goodies last night. We had left a bag of candy on the front porch. When we checked it later on, we were pleasantly surprised to see that most of the candy remained. We know that the kids in the neighborhood are good kids, but, an open, unattended bag of candy? That just seemed too tempting.

But, they only took as much as there were kids, and left most behind for the kids that followed. On a day known as a day of tricking and pranks, it was a welcome respite.

We're all doing well and still receive the occasional card of sympathy.

Brenda is taking it day after day. We thank you all for your continued thoughts and prayers.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

(benefit fundraiser) will be at Charlie's entertainment center, Main Street, Norway, at $5 per person, children 10 and under are $2 each. It will feature "Country Jim" Palmer and Lolalee. Also, many of the country music friends will be there to entertain through the afternoon. There will be a beverage bar, 50/50 drawing, door prizes, Chinese auction, and refreshments. For more information, please contact Jim at 924-7111 or Lolalee at 674-2571.

Richard had a nice visit with Oscar Annis and Freda and Joe Gaudreau last week. He used to work with Oscar and Freda and likes to keep in touch.

Claribel Poland is home and doing quite well after being in Norway Rehab Center for a while. She is a tough lady and she is 93 years young. She is my sister-in-law and keeps up with everyone in the family.

My sister, Evelyn, is also home after spending a couple of days at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Much thanks to Duane Ryerson for fixing and smoothing out the area by the Union Church. He did a great job and it sure looks much better.

Gary Coyne is building a garage here on the hill. Albert Silver is doing the excavation work.

Lots of rain this past week. It snowed some here in South Woodstock, as some of the cars from the valley had snow on the roofs.

My great-grandson, Zack, paid us a visit along with Kellie and Jessie. Zack went right to my computer. He knows how to do just about everything. He is six years old. He said he would come up and help me sometime.

Much sympathy to the family and friends of Howard Cole, who passed away this past week. He leaves family members and many friends.

Also, sympathy to the family and friends of Bruce Abbott. He will be missed by all who knew him.

Notice: Mary Emmons will be guest speaker at the Whitman Memorial Library on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 10 a.m. She will be talking about ceramics. There is no charge. Light refreshments will be available and it is open to the public.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m.; evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting; Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time. Plans are starting for the Christmas program to be held on Dec. 18.

News from Mrs. Nieberle: Katrina Reese fell and broke her leg in two places.

Violet Palmer, at the Village Store, shot her moose.

I think the rain has spoiled a lot of outside activities. The wife-carrying contest was still held in the rain at Sunday River. Unfortunately, the rain and wind has taken most of the colorful leaves off the trees.

Dot Cushman celebrated a birthday this past week. A

Town Meeting will be held to discuss allowing a tower on Dudley Road on Allen Twitchell's land.

Most people know this, but I just discovered that Mrs. Wendell Twitchell is Carol Haskell's mom. Mrs. Twitchell told me she once was a schoolteacher in Woodstock and Bethel.

Richard Felt came in to talk to me and told some history about our farm. I wish I had his memory. Sometimes I cannot remember what day it is. He spoke a lot about Lena Cushman who lived on the farm.

Lucy Robbin's son, Dale, and his wife had a baby born this month.

The question is, who is that sitting on Sid's new wall on Lake Christopher? Is it Humphrey Dumpty or Rick Sweeney or Captain Dave McDouart? Hope to see.

News from Alice: On Sunday, Donald and Andrea Hoyt hosted a Hoyt family get-together. Potluck dinner and much visiting were done; around 40 people attended. Seven brothers and sisters and their families were there.

Sunday evening supper guests at Ken and Alice Hoyt's were JoAnn, David, Ray and Shawn Crockett, Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover. They celebrated JoAnn's birthday.

Franklin Grange 124 will have a mock HeeHaw show on Saturday, Nov. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Grange Hall. Many new acts. Refreshments will be on sale, 50/50 and door prizes.

Remember those old-time "Mock Hee Haw" shows Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond presented twice a year for several years? Well, come and enjoy another one on Nov. 19 at 7 p.m.

Minnie Pearl will be there, of course, introducing some newcomers, such as Ginger Mae, Inez Palmer, Cack Bean and others along with old-timers, including Kenny Nowlin, The Grange Band, Bill and Beth Rice, Scoggin' Cloggers, and more.

There will be the usual refreshments on sale at intermission and a 50/50 drawing, as well as door prizes. All this costs just $2.50 for children under age 12 and $5 for all over age 12. You can't beat that for an evening of such fun and laughter.

From Bethel Girl Scout Troop 155

It's been a great month for Girl Scout Troop 155. We have been working on many things. Here are a few we would like to share with you.

Our first badge, United We Stand, is focused on our community. One activity includes writing to a soldier stationed overseas.

We are looking for a soldier from the SAD44 area to correspond with. If you know of anyone who may be willing to write to us, please e-mail details to mtnriver@gwi.net.

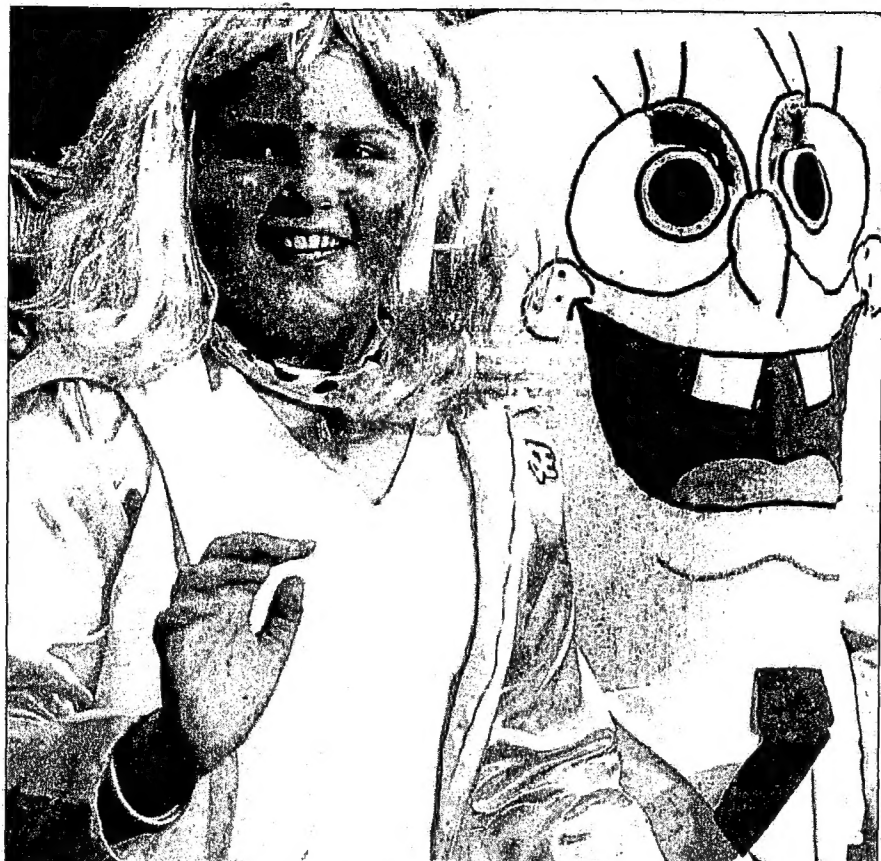

Another activity involved helping out in your own community. For this, we volunteered two days at the District Exchange folding and sorting clothes.

Thank you to the girls and their moms for doing this important work.

We finished out October with a birthday party for Juliette Low. She was the founder of GS way back in 1912. We would like to thank both the District Exchange and the Bethel United Methodist Church for their support of girl scouting in our community.

This contribution was proudly written by the girls, with a big thank you to Carol Corriveau.

Halloween on Main Street

CPS kids and a canine took part in the annual Halloween parade up Main Street in Bethel on Monday. At the top of the street, they entered the Northeast Bank, where they were greeted by, top right, Cassidy and Claire Webster and employees Lorena Tyler, Stephanie Corriveau, Faith Verrill and Debbie Luxton, who handed out treats.

Sports

Varsity Girls' Soccer

Gould 6, Hyde 1; Oct. 29 Beautiful passing combinations and positive team spirit. Goal scorers: Brittany Rogers four, Marina Schachowskoj two. Notable play by Carley Rudd, Brittany Rogers and Simone Crowe.

Varsity Boys' Soccer

Gould 2, Hyde 2; Oct. 29—Hyde opened the scoring in the seventh minute with a goal off a cross and then extended their lead in the 16th minute to make the score 2-0. The rest of the half was well played by both teams. Two minutes into the second half T.L. Tutor was able to score from the left side of the penalty box after making a good run. Leon Maierhofer tied the game late in the second half on a penalty kick.

Youth Football

Greenwood 16, Buckfield 12; Oct. 30 (3rd and 4th Grade)—For the second game in a row, the Spartans went ahead with just over a minute left and the defense held strong for an exciting home win. Josef Holt, in limited play, racked up 100 yards on offense and scored both Greenwood touchdowns and one conversion. Bronson Dean made a couple of nice runs, one of them scoring for the two-point conversion. On defense, Jordan Caldwell had his breakout game by playing solid nose tackle and coming up with four tackles. Austin Ryerson led the team with seven tackles and Holt (5) and David Pilgrim (4) were other tackling leaders. The team did their best job of the year at gang tackling and only allowed Buckfield one breakout play.

Buckfield 42, Greenwood 0; Oct. 31 (5th and 6th Grade)—Despite the lopsided score, there were several good plays on offense, an exciting 4th quarter drive, and best of all; an upbeat Spartan team at the end of their final game. Jeb Clark, Dan Whitney, Nick Mills, Kyle Peterson, and Drew Wilson all made nice runs and Whitney had a couple of pass receptions. The Spartans put it together during the fourth quarter, driving 60 yards but running out of time before they could score. Corey Howard and Wilson led the team in tackles with five each.

GIVING IT EVERYTHING—Telstar's Caiti Shimamura strokes the ball past a Central player in Saturday's Class C state championship game at Fitzpatrick Stadium in Portland. The Rebels lost in overtime, 2-1.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Class C State Championship: Central 2, Telstar 1 (OT)—Telstar's Danna Wilson scored the Rebels only goal and Liz Rosenberg had an assist in a state title loss to Central. Stephanie Tripp had five saves in goal.

Gould 1, Kents Hill 0; Oct. 31—The only score came on a lone breakaway by Gould's Shannon Lifflefield. The defense was led by captains Alec Macmillan and Jorie Ohlson, along with strong goal keeping by Clair Adams with seven saves, and third shutout of the season.

High School Girls' Cross-country

Class C State Championship race, Oct. 29—Telstar placed eighth out of 10 teams. Individual finishers (winning time: 20:38.35): 12. Brienne Bailey (21:44.43); 17. Jen DeNormandie (22:00.78); 53. Bethany O'Neil (24:01.75); 58. Katlyn Keane (25:11.06); 61. Kim Lauro (26:22.99)

The Service Directory: 1x1 $44.85, 1x2 $89.70 for 13 Weeks!

From the

Whitman Memorial Library

Mary Emmons of Bryant Pond will be the guest speaker at Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 10 a.m. She will talk about her many years in the ceramic business.

All of our Thursday programs are free of charge and are open to the public. Light refreshments are served. All are welcome.

The Board of Trustees had a productive meeting on Oct. 27 where we voted to have the floors in the old part of the building refinished. This is an expensive project, but we feel that it is important for our building.

The new addition is fantastic, but we don't want to neglect the original part of the building. We will be sending out a letter requesting donations for this particular project. The response to our letter requesting funds two years ago was very successful. The support for our library was heartwarming. Thank you ahead of time for any support you can give us this time around.

Now that winter is coming we want to make sure you know that when SAD44 has no school due to stormy weather the library will also be closed. We hope that won't happen too often.

We are building up our collection of books, audio tapes, DVDs, tapes for the VCR and large-print books, and we want you to be able to get them.

Our very newest DVD has been donated to us. It is "The 12 Dogs of Christmas." Remember that is the one that was filmed in Bethel and stars many local talents.

"Home Delivery," is a new program for us. If you are not able to get to the library and would like to borrow any of the above we are going to have volunteers deliver them to your house. Call the librarian, Althea Hathaway, at the library any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon. The number is 665-2505. We will have lists of our books on tape, DVDs and VCR tapes. We won't be providing a list of every book in the library, but we are sure there will be something you would like.

We do have several new books and DVDs. We have three new children's books: "Where Chimp," Beniece Rabe; "My Friend Isabelle," Eliza Woloson; "My Big Machine Book," Funmax; "Garfield's Guide to Everything" and "Garfield Fat Cat," Jim Davis; "The Memory Keepers Daughter," Kim Edwards; "Miracle," Danielle Steele; "The No. 1 Ladies Detective Agency," Alexander Smith; "The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Nighttime," Mark Haddon; "A Summer to Remember," Mary B. Alough; "Hope's Highway," Dorothy Garlock; "Lifeguard," James Patterson; "Thunder Creek," Jill Gregory; "The Revelation," Beverly Lewis; "Blue Smoke," Nora Roberts; "The Divide," Nicholas Evans; "Any Bitter Thing," Monica Woods; "Sweetwater Creek," Anne Rivers Siddons; "Someone Like You," Barbara Bretton; "Montana Blue," Genell Delin; "A Sudden Country," Karen Fisher; "Rory's Secret," Leisha Kelly; "The Widow of the South," Robert Hicks.

New DVDs are: "Angel and the Bad Man," "The Three Stooges," "Bushwhacked," and "The War."

Earlier this year, during the Town of Newry's celebration, the society opened an exhibit in its Robinson House providing some insights into this community's history. At the event to be held on Nov. 10, there will be a slide show with views of Newry people, buildings, and vistas. Following this portion of the program, there will be a panel of six to eight people with Newry ties who will discuss their memories and observations. Anyone with Newry connections is cordially invited to attend and bring photos and other memorabilia. Also, anyone wishing to serve on the panel, should also let the society know by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

LEAVING YOURSELF A FINANCIAL CUSHION

When you calculate how much you will need to purchase a home in the Bethel area, it is also a good idea to leave yourself with some financial cushion to cover the incidental expenses associated with moving.

First, you will have to pay the moving company unless you can find friends with strong backs who will help you. Then many buyers plan to do some work, such as painting, replacing carpet, or refinishing floors. If you are moving into a larger space, you may find yourself making some major furniture purchases within a few months. A financial cushion is important enough that some lenders require buyers to have an amount in the bank equivalent to two or three months mortgage payments. This is especially true for buyers who are putting less than ten percent down. Your Realtor can give you guidance. A lot depends on your overall financial situation. If your mortgage is a relatively low percentage of your monthly income, you will be able to rebuild a comfortable amount of savings in a few months.

Maternal grandparents are Robert and Loretta Pilgrim of West Bethel.

In loving memory of Irene Leonard on her Birthday, November 2

I've only your memory dear mother to remember my life through, but that memory will linger forever as I treasure the image of you. It broke my heart to lose you, but you did not go alone, for part of me went with you the day God called you home. I think of you in silence, no eyes must see me weep, but many a tear is shed when others are asleep. If all the world was mine to give, I'd give it, yes and more, to see your face dear mother come smiling through the door.

Sadly Missed,
Jane
